

Capitol Connection Q&A for Contractors
By Shauna Krause, President, Capitol Services, Inc.

You personally may read here what you consider most important to your trade, license status or particular situation. This time a major change in the rules requires your full attention. When the CSLB speaks, listen! ...

Q: I read that a Responsible Managing Employee (RME) can only be on one license, but a Responsible Managing Officer (RMO) can be on up to three licenses. Can an RME be on two licenses if the license holders meet the requirements of B&P Code Section 7068.1(3) which allows for a Qualifier to be on multiple licenses if the majority of the Partners, Officers, Members/Managers are the same. We can add one of our Officers to the new license in order to make the majority line up. Will that work?

A: First, see the new requirements below. I would have to look into the structure of each entity in order to give you a definitive answer, but from what you described, it sounds like a GO!

Latest update from the CSLB:

"Heads up regarding a change in the law/requirements from the California Contractor's State License Board (CSLB). As of July 1, 2021, all Officers of foreign corporations and LLCs must be listed on California Contractor's licenses, so you may need to update/change your registration.

As of July 1, 2020, "[e]very person who is an Officer, Member, Responsible Manager, or Director of a corporation or limited liability company seeking licensure under this chapter shall be listed on the application as a member of the personnel of record," and they must match those Officers listed on California Secretary of State's (SOS) records. (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7065 (b)(1)). This is a change from the Contractors State License Board's (CSLB) past practice, in which foreign corporations only had to associate their President. Domestic corporations previously had to associate their President, Secretary, and Treasurer. (Note the statute shows an effective date of January 1, 2020, but we understand the CSLB is seeking compliance as of July 1st).

Licensees should ensure:

- Corporations: All corporate officers, including Presidents, Secretaries, Directors, and Treasurers, must be listed, whether the corporation is foreign or domestic.
- LLCs: Every Member, Responsible Manager, Director, and Officer must be listed, whether the LLC is foreign or domestic.

This raises the question for companies which have many Vice Presidents and Officers whether all are required to be listed. The answer under the statute appears to be "yes." As a practical matter, the CSLB is most likely to identify any discrepancy between the Officers you have listed in your filings with the Secretary of State and those you have listed on the license.

Each Officer must be fingerprinted, unless their fingerprints are already on file with the CLSB, before the application will be approved. The new Officers will be associated effective on the date that the application is determined to be acceptable and all requirements are met, so it would be a good idea to get going on this now, in advance of the deadline".

And as always, contact us if you need our help with any updates!

Tax Relief for Businesses that have Received PPP Loans

AB 80 (details below) that seeks to assist small businesses deal with the economic impact of COVID-19 related economic shut downs was signed by the governor and immediately goes into effect. AB declares that PPP loans that businesses received from the federal government during the pandemic will NOT be counted as taxable income, and these businesses can also deduct the costs of expenses that those loans paid for.

Any small businesses who may be struggling with debt there are resources are available to help. Click here for a list of programs.

Specifically, AB 80:

1. Allow forgiven PPP loans under the CARES Act, the Paycheck Program and Health Care Enhancement Act, the PPP Flexibility Act of 2020, and the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021 to be excluded from gross income for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2019.
2. Conform state law to federal law to exclude an EIDL advance grant from gross income pursuant to the CARES Act and the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021 for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2019.
3. Conform state law to federal law with respect to the tax treatment (deductibility and tax attributes) of EIDL advance grants for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2019.

Conform state law to federal law with respect to the tax treatment (deductibility and tax attributes) of forgiven PPP loans for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2019, but exclude "ineligible entities".

CSLB Makes New B-2 License Available, First Classification in Over a Decade

SACRAMENTO – On June 1, the Contractors State License Board (CSLB) will begin accepting applications for the new B-2 Residential Remodeling Classification. This classification is available to licensees and applicants whose principal contracting business involves working on existing homes with residential wood frame structures which require at least three unrelated trades or crafts for a single contract (SB 1189).

The B-2 classification provides a pathway to licensure for many unlicensed people who are currently working on remodeling and small home improvement projects that don't qualify for a B-General Building License because the contracted work does not include framing or rough carpentry. "Consumers employing a licensed contractor have reduced liability and greater consumer protection. Licensees benefit from licensure as they have opportunities to lawfully advertise, and compete on a level playing field for jobs," said Dave Fogt, CSLB Registrar.

To qualify for the B-2 Residential Remodeling Classification, contractors and applicants must have at least four years of experience working in three or more trades or crafts for residential remodeling projects. Applicants can substitute up to three years of the experience requirement with qualifying education.

Please note that the B-2 license classification has the following restrictions:

- Limited to working on existing residential wood frame structures
- Cannot make structural alterations to load-bearing partitions and walls
- Cannot install or extend electrical or plumbing systems but can make modifications to existing systems (e.g., install recessed lighting or alter plumbing for two shower heads)
- Cannot install or replace an HVAC system

Also, applicants will need to take and pass the B-2 exam as well as comply with other licensure requirements such as maintaining a license bond and complying with workers compensation insurance requirements.

FIRE SAFETY AND PREVENTION

INTRODUCTION

Fires don't usually occur with frequency or regularity in the workplace and therefore workers are not particularly concerned about them. However, fires have many causes and can happen anytime. Therefore, it is important to try to prevent fires and be ready to correctly respond to them if they do happen.

FIRE PREVENTION

- Observe all “No Smoking” signs.
- Do not use open flames.
- Do not overload electrical circuits.
- Keep flammable liquids and materials stored properly and away from electrical circuit boxes or outlets.
- Keep your workspace tidy and make sure there is nothing obstructing the paths to the exits and fire extinguishers.

TYPES OF FIRES

Fires are classified so you know what to use to extinguish them.

- Class A fires are “ordinary combustibles”: fires which are heated by solid, organic materials such as wood, cloth, or rubber.
 - These types of fires are usually put out by spraying the burning material with water or by smothering the fire with foam from a fire extinguisher.
- Class B fires are made with flammable liquids and gas.
 - Use a fire extinguisher that puts out Class B fires.
 - Do NOT use a solid stream of water because it can cause the fuel to scatter and therefore spread the flames.
- Class C fires are electrical fires, which can be caused by overloaded electrical cables or short-circuiting machinery.
 - Baking soda, dry chemical powders, and extinguishers for electrical fires can all be used to put out an electrical fire.
 - Do NOT use water or other conductive agents; electricity may be conducted from the fire and electrocute the firefighter's body.
- Class D fires are fires made by combustible metals.
 - Water and other common firefighting materials can excite metal fires and make them worse.
 - Use dry powder to smother the fire (not to be confused with dry chemical agents).

FIRE SAFETY AND PREVENTION

USING A FIRE EXTINGUISHER

Be sure that the building has been evacuated and the fire department has been called before you use a fire extinguisher. Do not try to put out a fire that is larger than the size of a desk or that makes you nervous. When using a fire extinguisher, remember PASS:

- P: Pull the locking pin.
- A: Aim the fire extinguisher at the base of the fire, not the flames or smoke.
- S: Squeeze the lever of the fire extinguisher to operate.
- S: Sweep the fire extinguisher back and forth at the base of the fire.

RESPONDING TO FIRES

- Remain calm.
- Call the fire department when there is a fire.
 - Do NOT wait to investigate the situation.
- Use the stairs to evacuate, not the elevators.
- If you get stuck in an office high off the ground, hang a sweater or shirt out of a window to alert the firemen to find your position.
 - Stay as close to the floor as you can; smoke rises to the ceiling, leaving the cleaner air towards the floor.
 - Use a sweater, shirt, or towel to help reduce smoke inhalation.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

- Be aware of potential fire hazards in the workplace, such as frayed electrical wire, and report hazardous situations to the supervisor.
- Know your company's safety procedures and participate in fire drills.
- Know where the emergency exits, fire alarms, and fire extinguishers are.
- Know your location, address, and the nearest cross street so you can give that information to the 9-1-1 operator.

CONCLUSION

Knowing how to prevent fires will help avoid property damage and injury, and knowing how to react to fires, including what extinguisher to use and your responsibilities, will help you keep calm during an emergency and help you respond well enough to stay safe.
