

Capitol Connection Q&A for Contractors
By Shauna Krause, President, Capitol Services, Inc.

If it seems like the 'easy' way, it most likely is also the wrong way, especially in contractor rules and regulations. There are reasons things are done the 'right' way. A 'suspenseful' inquiry is less dramatic with an expert solution and I find a way to keep some 'history' in the family...

Q: I have an opportunity in Nevada to install drilled pier foundations on a large project, but I am not licensed in Nevada. Is there an ability for me to "borrow" or "rent" an "A-9" license? I'm wondering if there are people who maintain a license that would be willing to act as the Responsible Managing Employee for a specific project? And if so, how can I get in touch with those people?

A: Thank you for contacting Capitol Services. You cannot "borrow" or "rent" a license. There are individuals who can and will act as your Qualifier, however it's usually for a long-term agreement/employment opportunity. I've never heard of that for just one project. Plus, there are additional paperwork requirements such as a Business License and a Financial Statement which may or may not be worth it for you if you are only doing one project in Nevada, not to mention added Insurance obligations with employees.

I'm not sure how you would go about finding an individual to be your Qualifier, I assume it's the same as how you would normally seek new hires.

Q: We currently have a "B" (General Building) license which is Suspended due to lack of Qualifier. We are looking for a replacement, however we are already almost 45 days in to our 90-day deadline and I'm worried the new individual will not be able to sit for the exams in ample time. We have an employee who just recently obtained a personal "C-46" (Solar) license. Are we able to use his qualifications to take over our "B" license? Most of our work is solar related anyway.

A: He cannot "take over" the "B" license with his "C-46" qualification. However, he could add the "C-46" to the license in order to remove the suspension. Also, if you have someone in mind to replace your current Qualifier for the "B", you can submit the application for him/her to sit for the exams, and at the same time request a 90-day extension to complete the process.

Q: I read your Q&A article in Engineering Contractors' Association (ECA) September magazine and saw that you answered a question regarding transferring a California Contractors License number. I am a C-Corp contractor, licensed in CA, and want to convert to an LLC. Can I convert to an LLC and keep my current license number? It has history as my great-grandfather started this company in 1932, and the license number was issued in 1955, so it's a very low license number. I understand the benefits of converting to an LLC, would very much like to keep this number.

A: If your corporate license is in good standing immediately prior to requesting that the number be transferred and if your Personnel (meaning Officers of record with the CSLB) are remaining the same, you can transfer the number. Once it's transferred, you can then make any changes to personnel and what not.

While knowledge is power, knowing where to go for the answers is half the battle. TOWING SAFELY

INTRODUCTION

Towing any amount of extra weight adds to the danger of driving, whether that extra weight is from a trailer or another vehicle. It is extremely important to drive carefully and execute all of the necessary safety steps to protect not only your health and safety, but of those around you.

PREPARATION

- Make sure the weight of the load is not too heavy for the tow vehicle.
- Consult the owner's manual to confirm appropriate towing weights.
- Employees must be trained on how to hookup properly before attempting to do so.
- All connections and safety chains must be secured and double-checked before towing.
- Avoid becoming distracted when hooking up a vehicle or trailer to tow.
- If you hear an unusual noise or suspect trouble while towing, employees must stop at a safe place to identify and correct the problem.
- Before driving, and at each fuel stop, you should perform a brief inspection of the following:
 - Attachments
 - Safety chains
 - Lights
 - Tire Pressure

SAFE DRIVING

All of the general road rules for your area must be applied at all times while driving. In addition to that, when towing vehicles or trailers, you should:

- Avoid sudden acceleration or braking, as these can be highly dangerous.
- Allow much more time or distance when braking or passing other vehicles than usual.
- Never pass on hills or curves.
- Slow down, shift into a lower gear, and never ride the brakes when driving on downgrades.
- A wider than normal turning radius may be required when towing.
- Reduce your normal driving speed when towing.

TRAILERS

Trailer-specific towing safety rules that must be adhered to include the following:

- Un-braked trailers must not weigh more than the empty weight of the towing vehicle.
- Braked trailers and their loads may weigh more than the empty weight of the towing vehicle only if approved by the recommendations of the trailer manufacturer.
- The component ratings must meet or exceed the trailer weight.
- Load weight must be evenly distributed or as recommended by the trailer manufacturer.
- Cargo must be properly secured against any movement.
- If sway or whipping occurs, always let off the gas, and hold the steering wheel straight ahead.

CONCLUSION

If you follow the included safe work practices, you will avoid costly damage and possible injury to yourself and others. Towing a vehicle or trailer safely includes following all of the regular road rules as well as additional safety guidelines specific for towing.
